PROMOTING HANDLOOM EMPOWERING INDIAN ARTISANS

Chhaya Verma

The handloom sector in India is a major economic activity and has large presence in international market. It provides direct and indirect employment to over 35 lakh weavers and allied workers mostly from weaker and backward sections (4th All India Handloom Census) besides contributing to approximately 15% of the country's total cloth production. The sector is not only supplying cloth for indigenous requirements but also earning through the export of handloom products. The handloom sector is sustained by transferring traditional skills from one generation to another in a very natural environment. The strength of this sector lies in its uniqueness, flexibility of production, adaptability to customer's requirement and openness to inventions. Since it is an eco-friendly fabric, handloom products are in high demand in the international market as well as in the domestic market.

The Government of India has been promoting and encouraging the handloom sector through a number of policies and programmes. The growing competitiveness in the textile industry both in the national and international markets and the free trade opportunities emerging in the post MFA (Multifibre Arrangement) environment have made the government adopt a focused yet flexible and holistic approach in the sector to facili-litate handloom weavers to meet the challenges of a globalized environment. It has also been felt that empowering weavers for sustainable growth and diversification to cope with the ever-changing market trends is the need of the hour. Through sustained efforts of the Ministry of Textiles, there has been significant development of handloom sector which is now able to sustain the competition with machine made fabrics.

1. National Handloom Development Programme (NHDP)

The National Handloom Development Programme (NHDP) is an attempt to facilitate the sustainable development of handloom weavers located in and outside identified handloom clusters into a cohesive, self-managing and competitive socio-economic unit. A central sector plan scheme has been formulated for its implementation during 2017-18 to 2019-20. The scheme focusses on a need-based approach for integrated and holistic development of handlooms and welfare of handloom weavers within and outside the cooperative fold including Self-Help Groups, NGOs, etc. towards raw material, design inputs, technology upgradation, marketing support through exhibitions, creating permanent infrastructure in the form of Urban Haats, marketing complexes, development of web portal for e-marketing of handloom products, etc.

a) Handloom Cloth Production and Export

The export of handloom items during 2017-18 was Rs.2280.19 crore which was increased to Rs.2392.39 crore in the year 2018-19. The export of handloom products decreased to Rs.2245.33 crore in 2019-20 which was further declined to Rs.1644.78 in the year 2020-21. India exported handloom products worth Rs. 1693 crore (US$ 229 Million) during April 2021 to February 2022.

CIVIL SERVICES MAIN EXAMINATION THE RIGHT APPROACH

Each year, UPSC conducts the coveted civil services examination in three phase, viz; preliminary, mains, and interview tests. Each one of these is designed to test certain traits in the aspiring candidates which is briefly explained in the notification issued by UPSC itself. The primary objective of conducting the prelims exam is to test the basic, fundamental knowledge of the candidates in subjects of general interest like history, geography, polity, economy, current issues etc. Alongwith this, a candidate's aptitude is also sought to be tested by the CSAT paper in the prelims exam. The underlying idea behind introducing preliminary exam is to weedout non-serious, non-deserving candidates in the first round itself so that only those, who have shown some potential by qualifying in prelims exam, get eligible for the mains exam. Over the years, prelims has become a highly unpredictable exam due to constant experimentation done by UPSC to surprise the students with unexpected questions. It has emerged as an exam where not only knowledge is tested, but your strategy to score enough marks in the face of several unknown questions to get past the cut-off limit is also put on test.

However, the main exam is quite different from the prelims exam in so many ways. You know the areas fairly well from where questions are going to be asked in the mains. This is so because the mains syllabus is far more clearly given by UPSC than the prelims syllabus. There is no mystery about the question papers of the main exam and there is no surprise element involved here unlike the prelims exam. In the main exam, apart from four GS Papers, i.e., GS-I, GS-II, GS-III, and GS-IV, there is a separate essay paper also. Thus, four GS papers and the essay paper account for 1250 marks. Then, there is a compulsory language test comprising English and any Indian language included in the 8th Schedule of the Constitution. These language papers are of qualifying nature and one needs just to obtain the qualifying percentage in these language papers (i.e., 35% marks). It should be noted that the marks obtained in the

PROMOTING HANDLOOM ...b) Concessional Credit

Handloom weavers are provided with a loan on concessional interest rate of 6% for a period of three years. Besides this margin money, assistance of up to maximum of Rs. 10,000 per weaver and credit guarantee for a period of three years is also offered. Initially, the loans were sanctioned in the form of Weavers Credit Card (WCC) but now MUDRA platform is being used for these services and the scheme is being implemented as 'Weavers MUDRA' scheme and 'Handloom Weavers MUDRA Portal' has been developed in association with Punjab National Bank for timely transfer of financial assistance and operational since 01.04.2017.

c) Block Level Cluster Approach

Block level cluster approach is one of the components of the National Handloom Development Programme (NHDP) which is more flexible to suit the requirements of the cluster with higher funding scale by Government of India, discontinuation of state contribution, direct release of funds to the implementing agency, and direct fund transfer to the beneficiary's account through ECS. A cluster of blocks are eligible to avail up to Rs 2.00 crore for different interventions such as setting up of common facility centre (CFC) with common service centre (CSC), construction of workshop, design development, appointment of cluster development executive (CDE), technological and skill upgradation, setting up of dyeing house, etc.

d) Bunkar Mitra

A toll-free helpline number (18002089988) was set up to deal with the queries of handloom weavers related to a wide range of issues like technical, supply of raw material, quality control, credit facility, access to market linkages, etc. This Helpline provides single point contact to handloom weavers across the country for addressing their professional queries seven days a week. Services are available through toll-free number in seven languages: Hindi, English, Tamil, Telugu, Bengali, Assamese and Kannada.

e) Handloom Marketing Assistance

To develop and promote the marketing channels in domestic and export market and bring about the connection between the two in a holistic and integrated manner, the Marketing and Export Promotion Scheme has been merged and Handloom Marketing Assistance, as one of the components of the National Handloom Development Programme. Its main aim was to provide a direct marketing platform to the weavers and handloom organizations to sell their products directly to the customers. The main activities include organization of expos, events and craft melas, export promotion, handloom mark, India handloom brand, e-commerce, marketing incentive, handloom awards and geographical indicators, etc.

a) Expos, Events and Craft Melas: To promote the marketing of handloom products, the NHDC organizes special exhibitions such as silk fairs, wool fairs and national handloom expo. The expenses incurred by the NHDC are reimbursed by the Government of India. Besides these, the corporation also undertakes various programmes to educate the handloom weavers about the latest dyeing techniques and about the on-going schemes of the government such as: Buyer-seller meets, one-day sensitization programmes and programmes on the development of new products using different types of yarns. A total of 181 domestic marketing events were implemented during each year in 2016-17 and 2017-18 and a total of 165 events were sanctioned for 2018-19. The target for organization of 200 domestic marketing expos/events by the State Government and their implementing agencies and National level implementing agencies during the current financial year i.e. 2022-23 has been fixed by the competent authorities.

b) Export Promotion: Under this component, assistance is given for export projects, participation in international fairs and exhibitions and setting up of design studios with the main objective of assisting handloom cooperative societies, corporations/Apex and handloom exporters to participate in international events, buyer-seller meets, etc. and to make available the latest design trends.

c) Handloom Mark: The handloom mark scheme was launched by then Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh on 28th June, 2006 for the promotion of the handloom industry and to serve as a guarantee to the buyers regarding the purchase of genuine hand-woven products. The scheme belongs to the office of the Development Commissioner for Handloom and Textiles Committee is the implementing agency for the promotion of handloom marks. Handloom mark was promoted and popularized through advertisements in newspapers, magazines, electronic media, fashion shows, films, etc. Various categories of users are being registered under the scheme and handloom mark levels are being sold to registered users. Since inception the scheme has shown good performance in terms of registration and consumption of labels. Although persistent requests were received from the registered users to reduce the price of the present Taffeta label as well as to introduce designer labels for elite and high-end products. Efforts were taken to identify more sources to supply labels to meet the demands. Textile Committee has succeeded in developing new low-cost taffeta labels and other attractive designer labels to cater the varied needs of the users. Changes have also made in design, coding and numbering of the labels. The users can choose the labels as suited to their products.

Handloom Mark

The Ministry of Textiles has been implementing 'Handloom Mark' scheme which provides a collective identity to the handloom products not only for popularizing the hand-woven products but also for assuring the buyer that the product being purchased is genuinely hand woven.

Under the Scheme 'Handloom Mark', registration is issued after onsite verification of looms, handloom products produced by the individual weavers, master weavers, apex and primary handloom weavers' co-operative societies, handloom development corporations, others, handloom retailers and exporters. More than 22000 users under different categories are registered under the Handloom Mark Scheme throughout the country and more than 13 crore products are tagged with Handloom Mark Labels. In total, more than 9 lakh Handlooms are covered in the registration (Textile Committee, Ministry of Textiles). As an enforcement measure, periodic surveillance audit and random verification of Handloom Mark products are also carried out. However, Ministry of Textiles is not maintaining the total turnover in value terms of Handloom Mark products and percentage of handloom products bearing Handloom Marks. For digitalization of Handloom Mark scheme and its further promotion Smt Smriti Irani launched the Mobile App & Backend Website for Handloom Mark Scheme (HLM) on the occasion of the 6th National Handloom Day (7th August 2020).

d) India Handloom Brand: The 'India Handloom Brand' was an initiative of the Development Commissioner for Handloom and was launched on 07.08.2015 on the occasion of first Handloom Day to endorse the quality of products in terms of the raw material, processing, weaving and other parameters for earning the trust of the consumers. This brand was launched for conservation and promotion of traditional hand-woven heritage of India, for assuring defect free quality product to the Consumer, for ensuring social and environmental compliances in production of handlooms, for creating a niche market space for high quality handloom products and for increasing the earnings of handloom weavers. This brand is given only to high quality defect-free authentic handloom products with the aim to generate a special market space and enhanced earning. 'India Handloom' brand caters to the needs of the socio-economically conscious consumers. The branded handloom product is differentiated from other products in terms of quality because of proper use of good quality yarns and non-carcinogenic dyes. It helps the buyers and exporters to source quality products and empowers the women and other disadvantaged sector involved in handloom weaving by getting better earning through production of value-added quality products. The following measures were implemented to promote the Indian handloom brand:

- Comprehensive awareness and brand-building campaign
- Open door policy for e-marketing
- Partnership with 101 retail stores on Pan-India basis

Fig : Logo of India Handloom Brand

The handloom production in India meets the dual objectives of green production and employment generation, which is in tune with the Prime Minister's inclusive growth agenda of "SABKA SATH, SABKA VIKAS". All the products under the brand have the benchmarked quality for the raw material, the processing as well as for packing and labelling besides proving the origin from the hand-woven sector.

f) E-Marketing: E-commerce has been introduced to provide better return of the handloom products because it reduces the transaction cost and make better margin to the handloom weavers. To promote the marketing of handloom products and reach the customers of younger generation a policy framework was prepared to promote the e-marketing of handloom products in a transparent, competitive and effective manner. Any e-commerce entity interested to work for the promotion of online marketing of handloom products in collaboration with the Office of DC (Handlooms) may apply for the same. The application would be scrutinized by a specially constituted Committee. An e-commerce entity approved by the office would be required to make a priority display of handloom products on its home page, leading to an exclusive section for branded handloom products carrying either the 'India Handloom' brand or the Handloom mark.

A Memorandum of Understanding was signed on 25th August 2014 with Flipkart to provide online marketing platform to the handloom weavers to boost the handloom sector and market the handloom products of weavers and handloom cooperatives through e-commerce eliminating the middlemen. In order to provide more online marketing facility, open door policy was evolved to invite e-commerce entities to sell handloom product. 24 such online services have been engaged by Office of the Development Commissioner for Handlooms, Ministry of Textiles for online marketing of handloom products.

g) Marketing Incentive: Marketing Incentive is given to the handloom agencies for preparing conditions, which are conducive to the marketing of handloom products. The purpose of this incentive was to marginally reduce the price of their products and invest in infrastructure to improve the production and productivity. State handloom corporations, apex cooperative societies, primary handloom weavers' co-operative societies and national level handloom organizations are eligible for assistance towards marketing incentive. This is given to only those agencies which really need marketing support and it would be given for three years so that the agency could sustain itself on its own afterwards. Societies having more than Rupees 30 lakh turnover or more were not eligible for this marketing incentive.

h) Handloom Awards: Ministry of Textiles has been conferring various awards to handloom weavers for excellent performances in handloom sector such as Sant Kabir Award, National Award and National Merit Certificates.

i. Sant Kabir Award: This award is given to outstanding handloom weavers who were carrying out the tradition and had made significant contributions to the promotion, development and protection of the handloom sector. This award includes a cash prize of Rs. 3 lakhs, one mounted gold coin, one tamrapatra, one shawl, one smart phone and a certificate.

ii. National Award: It is given to handloom weavers in recognition of their outstanding craftsmanship and development of handloom weaving. This award encouraged them to continue with their traditional work in a more enthusiastic and productive manner. This award includes a cash prize of Rs. 1.5 lakhs, one tamrapatra, one shawl and a certificate.

India Innovation Index 2021

Mapping India's Innovation Ecosystem

India is among the fastest-growing economies globally and innovation has played a critical role in achieving this status. COVID-19 accelerated the adoption of new technologies in India since the pandemic led to the emergence of several path breaking ideas. From pioneering several innovations in the ancient times to making incomparable contributions to modern science and technology, India has rightfully earned its name as one of the world's most innovative nations.

NITI Aayog, on July 21, 2022, released India Innovation Index 2021. The third edition is set against the backdrop of the COVID-19 pandemic and highlights the scope of innovation analysis in the country by drawing on the framework of the Global Innovation Index (GII). The number of indicators has increased from 36 (in the India Innovation Index 2020) to 66. The indicators are now distributed across 16 sub-pillars, which, in turn, form seven key pillars.

The India Innovation Index 2021 is a deep dive into the innovation landscape of India; it provides a holistic picture of the innovative capacities of our states/UTs by highlighting their strengths and weaknesses. The index provides a module to the states and UTs to build upon their strengths and work on their weaknesses. This is especially important in the current context, where multiple start-ups and unicorns have started carving their space in the Indian market.

What is the India Innovation Index?

Prepared by NITI Aayog and the Institute for Competitiveness, the India Innovation Index is a comprehensive tool for the evaluation and development of the country's innovation ecosystem. It ranks the States and the Union Territories on their innovation performance to build healthy competition amongst them. The Index also contributes to the Government's effort to monitor select global indices through the Global Indices to drive Reform and Growth (GIRG) mechanism, for which the NITI Aayog is the nodal organization. In addition, it also highlights potential challenges that deter the Government, businesses and individuals from fully realizing their potential.

The index has been broadly categorized into four sections. The first section begins with an introduction to the current innovation landscape in the country and goes on to present the significant innovation drivers during the pandemic. Further, a detailed analysis of innovation in India is provided by evaluating the country's opportunities and challenges. The section concludes with a comparative study of India with other countries on various parameters. The second section depicts the new framework mapped from the GII to measure innovation and calculate the index, which is followed by key findings and then the individual state profiles. The key findings provide a detailed analysis of the various factors that drive innovation in the country. These analyses will be critical for policymakers to identify the drivers and bottlenecks for each State to promote innovation in the region.

The third section presents the learnings and recommendations derived from a detailed study of the innovation ecosystem at the state and national levels. This section includes the profiles of all the States and Union Territories and provides a comprehensive picture of every region's current innovation environment. The fourth section consists of detailed data tables for all the framework indicators and sources and definitions for reference.

Key Features of 2021 Index

To celebrate innovation in the backdrop of the fourth industrial revolution, the framework for India Innovation Index 2021 has been mapped with GII indicators. This is against the backdrop of India's aim to break into the top 25 countries in the Global Innovation Index (GII) from its current 46th position.

The dimension of the index remains the same as last year. Just like the previous edition, there are seven pillars in the Index—five 'Enabler' pillars measure the inputs and two 'Performance' pillars measure the output.

The Enabler pillars cover the features that are crucial for promoting innovation within a State/UT. Human Capital, Investment, Knowledge Workers, Business Environment, Safety and Legal Environment are the indicators that show the extent to which a state has created an environment to promote innovation. These pillars will help us understand each State/UT's capacity to improve its innovation potential.

Performance factors determine the state's outcomes through innovation enablers. It measures how the factors such as investments in human capital have manifested itself in say patents. All the indicators of the Performance pillar represent a nation's benefits in knowledge creation and competitiveness. The two pillars in the given dimension are Knowledge Output and Knowledge Diffusion.

India Innovation Index 2021 Framework

New indicators have been added in the framework to further strengthen the Index. In last year's edition, there were 36 indicators, this year there are 66 indicators. All the indicators of the Index capture both the aspects of the market as well as the State, thereby covering all necessary macroeconomic and microeconomic indicators.

The India Innovation Index covers all the twenty-eight States and eight Union Territories, which are further subdivided into districts, cities and towns. The heterogeneity and the vastness that prevails across the States in terms of geographical size, language, culture, and policies create complexities in the index analyses. Every State differs in terms of its innovative capacities and challenges given the demographic, economic, and sociocultural factors that influence it. To counter these complexities, the States and UTs have been thus classified into three categories: Major States; North-Eastern and Hill States; and UT and City States.

What are the takeaways from India Innovation Index 2021?

- Karnataka has topped the Major States' category in the current edition, followed by Telangana and Haryana. Chhattisgarh has scored the least.
- Among the North-Eastern and Hilly States, Manipur is the best performer, followed by Uttarakhand and Meghalaya. Nagaland with a score of 11 is at the bottom.

by Delhi. Ladakh was at the bottom.

- This year 16 States have performed above the national average. Amongst the nine Union Territories and City-States, the average innovation score is 15.74, higher than the national average.
- In the overall ranking, Human Capital is the highest performing pillar with an average score of 25.60.

What is Global Innovation Index?

The Global Innovation Index (GII) was first launched in 2007 to broaden the view on innovation—i.e., moving from just analysis based on research and development expenditure and scientific papers published to inspiring generations of innovators and business.

The Global Innovation Index (GII) takes the pulse of the most recent global innovation trends. It ranks the innovation ecosystem performance of economies around the globe each year while highlighting innovation strengths and weaknesses and particular gaps in innovation metrics.

CIVIL SERVICES MAIN EXAMINATION ...

language papers are not counted along with other papers. Finally, there is an optional paper that a candidate has to select out of the choices of various science and art subjects offered by UPSC. Almost all popular subjects taught in Indian universities are available out of which you can choose one you like.

Thus, the scheme of the main examination includes four GS papers, one essay paper, two language test papers and one optional paper. A total of 1750, marks are allotted to these papers. No doubt, mains exam is the decisive exam in the civil services as it carries maximum number of marks. In the final stage, which is called the personality test, those who qualify in the main exam have to appear before an interview board at UPSC. The IAS interview carries 275 marks. The final results are declared on the basis of marks obtained in the main exam and the personality test. The grand total of marks thus is 1750+275=2025. In order to get selected, a candidate is required to obtain at least 40-45 percent marks of this total. To get the top jobs of IAS, IPS, and IFS, you need to secure 45% and above marks.

Preparing for the Optional Paper: Optional paper is key to success in the main exam and without a good score in this paper, one can not hope to secure a good rank in the civil services examination. This is so because, it is very difficult to score high in the GS papers as well as the essay paper because commanding all of them is a tremendous exercise. In contrast, an optional paper is easier to command because its syllabus is well defined, good text books are available and good guidance is also available by subject experts. It can be observed from previous years' questions of optional papers that questions can be prepared strictly by following the given syllabus which makes the task easy. Therefore, as regards the optional paper, the first important thing is to select the right subject. Unfortunately, this is not always the case. Many candidates choose a subject not because they like it, but because of a circulated belief that a particular subject is a scoring optional paper, or it is one with limited syllabus. This is nothing but a myth. No optional paper is more or less scoring by itself. It is your command over it that will make it scoring for you and a lack of command over it that will make it less scoring for others. The right way of choosing an optional paper, thus, is not to follow the myths around it, but by applying this criteria: whether you like to study the subject, whether authentic sources to study it are available to you, and finally, whether you can get good guidance by a true expert if and when you require to clear certain concepts. It is always advisable that you follow authentic text books on the subject rather than unverified materials flooding the market. You should cover the syllabus line by line without leaving even a small part of it. Making brief notes is essential to revise it just before the exam. Always keep in mind what kind of questions have been asked on the given syllabus in last ten years and include those questions in your notes. Finally, solve at least five questions asked by UPSC in the last ten years on each aspect of the syllabus. This will enhance your familiarity with the subject. Link your preparation with current developments on the dynamic part of the subject, e.g., if you are studying cold war for international relations in the optional paper of political science, also cover the new cold war unfolding currently.

Preparing for the GS Papers:

GS I Paper-It comprises geography, history (i.e., modern India, post-modern India, and world history), and social issues like population, poverty etc. Each part of GS I syllabus needs to be covered judiciously.

History: In history, more questions are asked on modern India compared to world history and post-modern Indian history. Therefore, a thorough preparation is needed on modern India. The major topics to be covered on modern India are: freedom movement (1885-1947), including 1857 revolt, main leaders like Gandhi, Gokhale, Tilak, Ambedkar, Syed Ahmed Khan, and their contributions, British administrative structure with special reference to civil service, revenue administration, structure of government as established under various acts like Govt of India Act 1919, and 1935, British economic policies like drain of wealth, agriculture and industrial policies and their effects, social policies of the colonial govt, important acts passed by British Parliament, viz; Indian Councils Act, 1909, Govt. of India Act, 1919 and 1935, and the Indian Independence Act, 1947. In addition, one must read about the major socio-religious movements like Brahmo Samaj, Prarthna Samaj, Theosophy, Aligarh movement etc. For world history, one should read French and Russian revolutions and their wide ranging impacts, World War I and II, and decolonization process in Asia and Africa. On post-modern India, India's development trajectory in science, agriculture, culture, space etc., since independence should be followed.

Geography: Apart from revising the basic concepts in geography that one has already read for the prelims exam, one needs to prepare on the dynamic aspects, viz; climate change, heatwaves in Europe and its linkage with global warming, factors affecting monsoons, ocean pollution, major achievements and shortfalls of Glasgow COP 26 summit, Indian stand and policies on climate issues.

Social issues: Population is a major area in this section. A lot is happening on the world population front as reported by UN recently. Its various dimensions must be covered following the newspaper reports. Also, India is poised to become the most populous country in the world very soon. Its implications must be studied thoroughly. Besides, social issues like increasing gender gap in India, its major factors and remedies must be covered. On poverty, its new measurement criteria set by NITI AAYOG must be prepared and various schemes of poverty alleviation must be understood.

Answer writing practice for main exam: Without discussing the writing skill, it is just half the story told about the main exam. Honing writing skill is as important as covering the syllabus. It is important because you have to cover each part of the question under a prescribed word limit. For this, regular writing practice under a very simple, clear structure is needed. One must keep in mind to stay relevant to the question while answering them. Writing things not required by the question should be avoided. Then, each part of the question must be covered. If the question asks you to critically examine an issue, you should present all views on the topic and at the end, give your own views. If there are adjectives like comment, discuss, or elucidate, they carry almost the same meaning, therefore, don't go into their nuances. In the end, what counts is a good answer and not these nuances. If the question needs to be supported with facts, write a small introduction and then enumerate facts pointwise. Remember, it is always better to explain a question in essay format, rather than just putting it pointwise, unless there is a scope for it. Just writing facts does not make much sense, its analysis does. Keep away from such advices floating in the market. Secondly, don't refrain from making a constructive criticism of govt policies, judiciary, parliament etc. It is a myth that you are not supposed to criticize govt's policies. You can highlight their deficiencies and suggest measures for further improvement. However, one need not take an extreme stand on an issue in the manner of a newspaper article written by a critic or activist. What is needed is a balanced approach to the answer by avoiding extremes. Another related issue in answer writing is that of timing. You have to really struggle against time as the number of questions are 20 in each GS paper and about the same in the optional paper. Writing answers to all question is thus a stupendous task and many students end up writing only some questions before the exam time is over. Continuous practice is the only solution to master your timing. Finally, when you practice answer writing, you should constantly evolve in terms of quality. In other words, your next answer should be way better than your last answer. For this, you need to detect the shortcomings, lacuna in your answers and improve upon them. Also, it is judicious to practice those questions which are likely to come in the exam, rather than just practicing any kind of question available in market. Attempting irrelevant, or low quality questions is a sheer wastage of time. If you practice likely questions, it will help you directly in the exam as they may be asked. You can closely read last years' questions and gaining insight from those questions, you can frame likely questions yourself.

For UT's central government will provide 100 per cent funding.

● Education of handloom weavers and their children: Ministry of Textiles has signed Memorandums of Understanding with Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) and National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) to secure educational facilities for the weavers and their families. NIOS offers Secondary and Senior Secondary level education with specialized subjects on design, marketing, business development, etc. through distance learning mode for handloom weavers, whereas IGNOU offers continuing education programs through accessible and flexible learning opportunities relevant to the aspirations of handloom weavers and their children for career progression. Apart from this the Ministry of Textiles was providing reimbursement of 75% of the fee towards admission to NIOS/IGNOU courses in case of SC, ST, BPL, and Women learners belonging to handloom weavers' families.

III. Yarn Supply Schemes (YSS)

In order to facilitate the regular supply of basic raw material to the eligible handloom weavers, GOI has implemented the YSS throughout the country through NHDC (National Handloom Development Corporation), Lucknow. NHDC was set up in February, 1983 by the GOI as a public sector undertaking under the companies' act, 1956 with the objectives of supplying all types of yarns, quality dyes and materials needed by the handloom sector at lowest competitive rates and promotion of marketing of handloom products. The purpose of this scheme was to utilize the full employment potential of the sector. The freight was reimbursed and depot operating charges @ 2% was given to the depot operating agencies.

IV. Comprehensive Handloom Cluster Development Scheme (CHCDS)

The main objective of the CHCDS was to develop a Mega handloom cluster located in clearly identifiable geographical locations that specialized in specific products. As per the scheme, there should be at least 15,000 handlooms in a mega handloom cluster and the maximum permissible central cost for each cluster would not exceed Rs. 40.00 crore for five years. The purpose of the assistance was to improve infrastructure facilities, with better storage facilities, technology up-gradation in pre- and post-loom operations, construction of workshed for weaving, skill up-gradation, design inputs and health facilities in order to meet the changing market demands in national and international markets so that the millions of handloom weavers could improve their living standards.

Implementation of Handlooms (Reservation of Articles for Production) Act, 1985

The aim of the Handlooms (Reservation of Articles for Production) Act, 1985 was to protect millions of handloom weavers and the rich cultural heritage of the country from the encroachment on their livelihood by the power-looms and mill sector. Under this Act initially 22 textile articles with certain technical specifications were reserved for exclusive production by Handlooms vide S.O. 459 (E) dated 04.08.1986. Subsequently, based on the recommendations of the Advisory Committee, these were reduced to 11 articles vide Reservation order Notification No. S.O. 557 (E) dated 26.07.1996. At present only 11 textile articles with some specifications are reserved for production as handlooms under the Act.

There are three enforcement offices at Delhi, Chennai and Ahmedabad which ensure strict implementation of the Handlooms (Reservation of Articles for Production) Act, 1985. The GOI was providing central assistance to the states/ UTs for establishment of the enforcement machinery for the implementation of the handlooms (Reservation of Articles for Production) Act, 1985. The 11 articles which were reserved for exclusive production by Handlooms are as follows:

Table : The items reserved for exclusive production by handloom sector

S. No.	Items	S. No.	Items
1.	Saree	6.	Jamakkalam Durry/Durret
2.	Dhoti	7.	Dress material

Indian handloom has its unique place because it nurtures and preserves our traditional weaving craft besides providing employment to a large section of rural population, although it is facing deep crisis with low productivity, limited earning, obsolete technology, low literacy levels, firmly ingrained middlemen and inadequate financial support from banks. Looking at the problems faced by the industry it seems that it is declining. The decline can be accredited to the external factors to some extent such as economic recession, tough competition from power loom and mill sector, globalization, changing choices of customers, global pandemic and to the internal factors such as inability of handloom weavers to produce new products, new designs and market-oriented production. However, the ability of handloom weavers to recover quickly from the difficulties and potential to innovate indicates that this sector can still be revived. Various government schemes have the potential to improve the present situation of the handloom sector.
