UNLOCKING INDIA'S INNOVATION POTENTIAL

Sameera Saurabh

Innovations act like a driving force for the economy. Technology and its fast expansion have become a vital factor, which affects almost all the sectors including agriculture, manufacturing and services. Innovations and technological advancements play a significant role in deciding the way businesses and ventures participate in the nation's economic development as well as their expansion across the world.

At present, the world is changing rapidly and competitiveness of businesses needs to be maintained through continuous innovations by bringing in new technologies for improving the quality standards. The world is in the midst of an innovation era - one that began before the pandemic but is increasingly being defined by the acceleration in digital development over the past two years. Faster internet speeds and 5G mobile technology are serving as the foundations for deeper and greater connectivity and they are fuelling new economic opportunities.

India currently has 94 unicorns (start-ups) with a total valuation of around $300 billion. The high number of start-ups is part of the reason India rose in the World Intellectual Property Organization's Global Innovation Index ranking from 81 in 2015 to 46 in 2021. India's technology ascent in recent years is due in large measure to its focus on nurturing tech start-ups and incentivizing innovation. For instance, the $3 billion 'Startup India' initiative the government launched in 2016 has helped pave the way digitally by offering micro-financing and low-interest rate loans to entrepreneurs.

Notably, India has deployed technology to advance public health priorities during the COVID-19 pandemic. The government launched the Aarogya-Setu app to track infections, which was developed in 21 days through public-private partnership. A part of this app, the CoWIN Portal, has received global acclaim for its success in becoming the digital backbone of world's largest vaccination drive executed by India. These innovations offer examples for expanding public services through digital technology.

Various Ministries of Government of India are engaged in mentoring and providing support in business and technology. Numerous branches of the government machinery are networking with other businesses to provide seed capital assistance and professional assistance to make the enterprise successful and achieve higher growth.

In March 2022, the Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises, launched the MSME Innovative Scheme along with MSME Idea Hackathon 2022 under the MSME Champions Scheme. The primary objective is to promote and support untapped creativity and help the latest

PERKS OF PURSUING PERFORMING ARTS

Nidhi Prasad

Performing Arts is a term encompassing the form of an art that combines visuals with dramatic performances. Music, dance and acting are all examples of the Performing Arts.

The performing artists express themselves through their facial expressions, vocals and gestures. Aspirants can pursue their career as musicians, singers, dancers, and actors. Apart from the basic academic requirement, a person should be interested in the particular art form along with enough talent and skills to pursue it as a career. A career in performing arts requires arduous training which can be quite fascinating as it puts you at the center stage.

With many youngsters dreaming of the glamour world, this career path is very competitive. It is of utmost importance that you are confident of your talent and skills. Talent can take you a long way, but you will also need attributes like confidence, resilience, and self-reflection, along with skills like teamwork, creativity, analytical mind, and quick learning.

There are many prestigious universities that provide education in performing arts at certificate level, diploma level, bachelor's and master's level. Courses in performing arts engage the creative side of the brain, they also regulate one's study patterns and aid academic learning. These programs promote novelty and non-linear thinking, skills that can be useful in both academic and professional settings. Beyond academics and personality development, these activities arm students with a sense of independence that helps them combat anxiety, unhappiness, and other negative emotions. Indeed, a study of the arts is a nourishing and enjoyable journey.

Various Courses offered in Performing Arts are:

- B.A. Music (Vocal)
- B.A. Music (Instrumental)

technologies and methods in the MSME sector.

The MSME Innovative Scheme is an amalgamation of three earlier schemes of the MSME Ministry: Incubation, Design and Intellectual Property Rights (IPR). These three schemes will function as separate units with interflows and connections. The three schemes will work in tandem with each other and will be sequentially and parallelly integrated. The idea behind this is to have a structured approach toward encouraging, promoting and supporting innovation in India. The MSME Innovative Scheme will act as a host who will encourage entrepreneurs and guide in the development and also financially help business propositions that will benefit the society directly.

The primary objective of the MSME Innovative Scheme is to encourage innovation in India by providing a platform to entrepreneurs and to promote the complete value chain from developing ideas into innovation through incubation and design interventions. The scheme intends to provide appropriate facilities and support for the development of the concept to market, design competitiveness, and protection and commercialisation of intellectual property. This will be done to increase the number of MSMEs in India and support their growth.

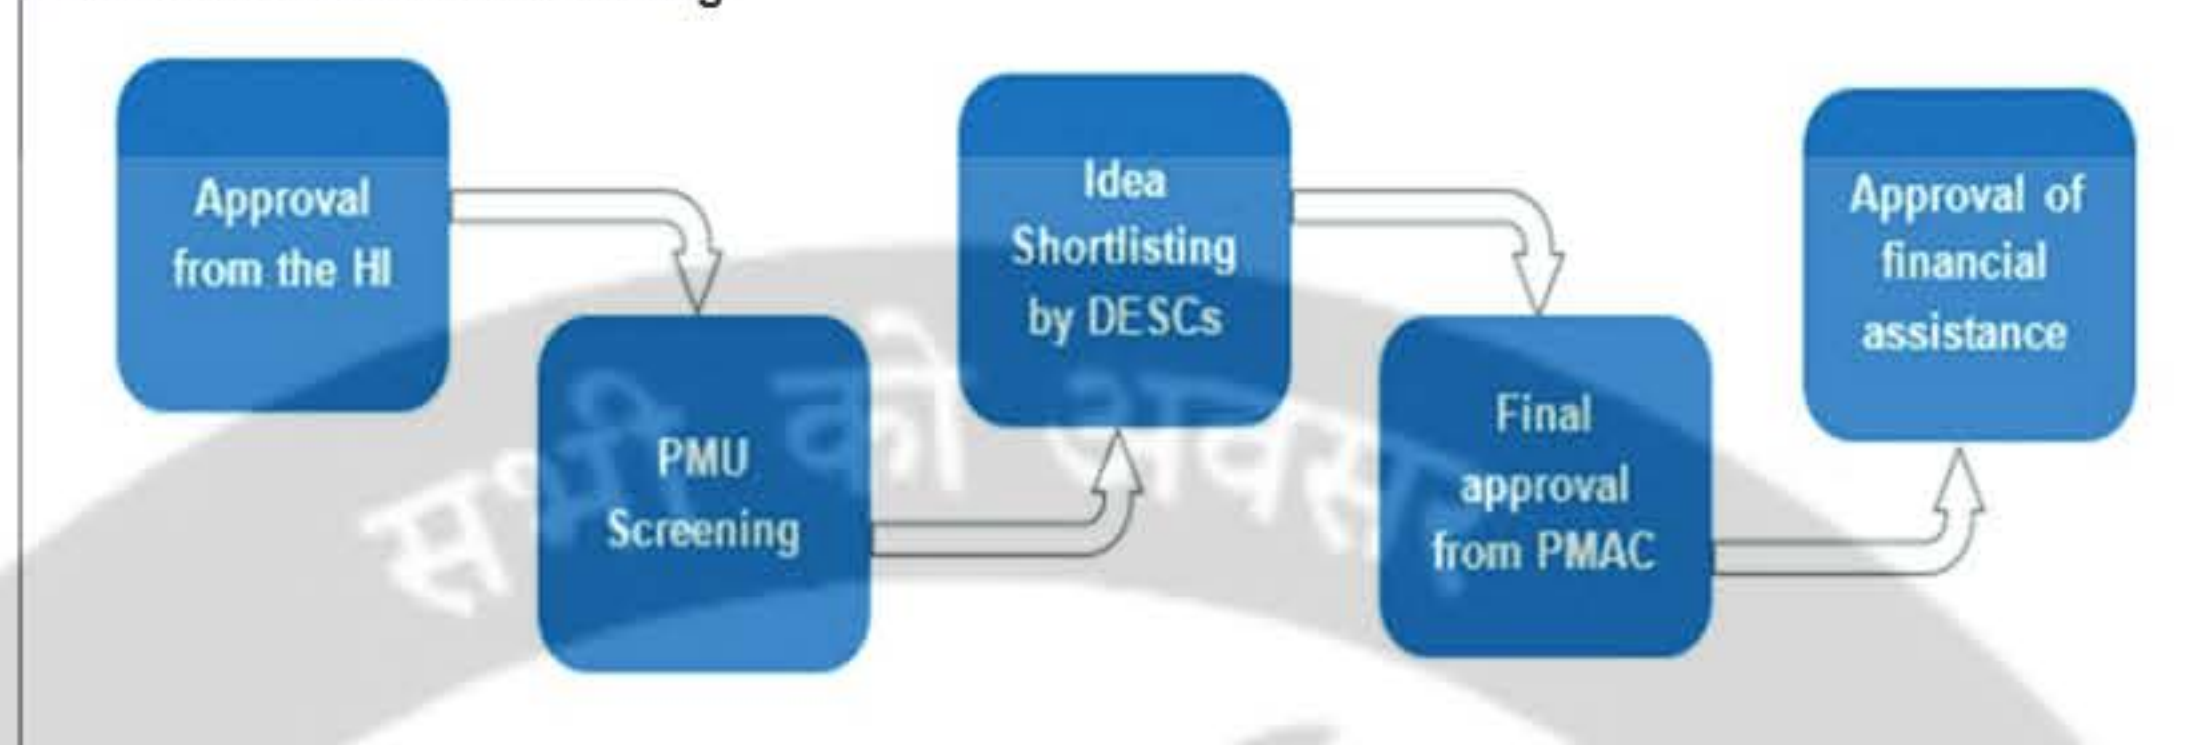

The scheme also aims to create a culture of innovation and creative problem-solving in India through knowledge sharing and collaboration among various industries, institutions, government bodies, and research institutes. The scheme will provide funding to different stages of new businesses in hopes to increase participation, easy access to technology and help promote ideas in the market. The various agencies that are part of the scheme will serve as a link between industry and academic leaders and thinkers. With this, the government of India aspires to develop businesses and promote innovations that will benefit society as a whole while being commercially viable and sustainable.

The MSME Innovative Scheme will be a combination of three schemes: Incubation, Design and IPRs. These three schemes will act as separate units.

Incubation

The first step under the incubation phase is the recognition of eligible institutions named Host Institute (HI), which will act as a Business Incubator (BI). The institutes will be chosen from among technical colleges, universities, professional institutes, R&D institutes, NGOs that are involved in incubation activities, and central or state government institutions that will participate in the process. The selected institutes will then invite ideas from MSMEs and others.

Selection Process for Funding

Following shortlisting of ideas by the HIs, the Project Management Units (PMUs) will carry out first-stage screening and will forward the screened ideas ahead to the Domain Expert Selection Committees (DESCs). The ideas will then be segregated into the following five verticals:

1. Agriculture and related industries
2. Healthcare and life sciences
3. Power and related sub-industries
4. Services
5. Miscellaneous sectors

The five DESCs will evaluate the shortlisted ideas and send them to the Project Monitoring and Advisory Committee (PMAC). The approved ideas will receive financial assistance under the scheme for development.

The government will provide financial assistance of a maximum Rs. 15 lakh (US$ 19,600) per idea. Financial assistance of a maximum Rs. 1 crore (US$ 0.13 million) will be provided to HI for the procurement and installation of relevant plants and machinery.

The Design

The objective of the design component is to bring India's manufacturing sector and design expertise to a common platform. It aims to provide cost-effective and sustainable design solutions and help in further improvement. The scheme is divided into two parts - Design Project and Design Awareness Programme.

The Design Project aims to provide resources to MSMEs for developing strategies and design-related products through advisory and intervention. The objective of the Design Awareness Project is to generate awareness about the importance of design among businesses through seminars, talks and workshops. The scheme focuses on spreading the value of designs and innovations in the industry among MSMEs.

Under this scheme, MSMEs will submit their designs to the Implementation Agencies (IAs). The approved design projects will be granted a maximum amount of Rs. 40 lakhs (US$ 52,000). For student design projects, a maximum of Rs. 2.5 lakh (US$ 3,250) will be provided as financial assistance.

IPR

The main objective of the IPR component is to spread aware-

(10 Nos) and Technology Development Centers (8 Nos), spread across the country.

To spread the Technology Centres' reach, the Ministry has also started 15 new TCs for which the construction work has already been started at various major Groups eventually leading to handholding of approximately 2000 tech start-ups over a period of five years. The scheme has a total outlay of Rs 264.62 crore over a period of 5 years.

The seven select thematic areas identified to address societal challenges based on national priorities are in the realm of:

1. Healthcare
2. Education
3. Agriculture
4. Financial inclusion including digital payments
5. Infrastructure and transportation
6. Environment and clean tech
7. Clean Energy Solutions

TIDE Centers

Proposals from 51 TIDE 2.0 Incubation Centres are to be obtained from institutions of higher learning and R&D organisations having incubation facilities and established linkages with large companies, industry bodies, industry clusters so as to provide necessary mentorship and possible infusion of innovative businesses into their larger business operations. To leverage the diversity in the ecosystem, it is proposed to roll out TIDE 2.0 in a layered approach. For this it is envisaged that each of the 51 TIDE Centres will be categorized into three distinct groups as summarized below:

Group 1 Centers

Group 1 Centres (G1C) will offer deep support to startups including mentoring, capacity building, investing, and post-investment advisory.

Group 2 Centers

Group 2 Centres (G2C) will enable a large number of aspiring entrepreneurs and students to build high-quality startups.

Group 3 Centers

Group 3 Centres (G3C) will initiate and evangelize innovation and entrepreneurship ecosystems in unexplored regions. These will typically be incubators that are recently established in academic institutes. G3Cs will initiate and evangelize entrepreneurship and innovation activity in regions with absent/ dormant ecosystems.

MeitY Startup Hub (MSH)

Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) had initiated "MeitY Start-up Hub"(MSH) under TIDE 2.0 scheme as a singular, dynamic, collaborative platform for the tech startup community towards building meaningful synergies in the Indian tech startup space. MSH is being implemented by Software Technology Parks of India (STPI) at a total budget outlay of Rs. 5.18 crore over a period of five years.

MSH is acting as a national coordination, facilitation and monitoring centre integrating various innovation led start-up activities of MeitY.

World Population Day

Global Trends and Initiatives

We are living in an era of unprecedented population growth. In the middle of the twentieth century in 1950, five years after the founding of the United Nations, world population was estimated at around 2.5 billion people. Since then, world population has more than tripled in size, rising to almost 7.7 billion in 2021. Not only that, the world's population is expected to increase by 2 billion persons in the next 30 years, from 7.7 billion currently to 9.7 billion in 2050 and could peak at nearly 11 billion around 2100.

This dramatic growth has been driven largely by increasing numbers of people surviving to reproductive age, and has been accompanied by major changes in fertility rates, increasing urbanization and accelerating migration. These trends will have far-reaching implications for generations to come.

Initially, the increasing population and better lifestyle demand improved standards of food, clothing, shelter, comfort, and recreation for the people. As the population increased at an exponential rate, the increasing demand for all this has put our resources and environment under stress and even degraded them. Resource use, waste production and environmental degradation are accelerated by population growth. They are further exacerbated by consumption habits, certain technological developments, and particular patterns of social organization and resource management.

World Population Day, which seeks to focus attention on the urgency and importance of population issues, was established by the then-Governing Council of the United Nations Development Programme in 1989. On 11 July 1987 - the Day of Five Billion was observed when the world's population was well above five billion. United Nations General Assembly decided to continue observing World Population Day to enhance awareness of population issues, including their relations to the environment and development.

World Population Day

By resolution 45/216 of December 1990, the United Nations General Assembly decided to continue observing World Population Day. The Day was first marked on 11 July 1990 in more than 90 countries. Since then, a number of United Nations Population Fund, formerly the United Nations Fund for Population Activities (UNFPA), country offices and other organizations and institutions commemorate World Population Day, in partnership with governments and civil society.

The theme of World Population Day 2022 is "A world of 8 billion: Towards a resilient future for all - Harnessing opportunities and ensuring rights and choices for all".

This year, the population will hit 8 billion, prompting the attendant responses. While one might marvel at the advancements in health that have extended lifespans, reduced maternal mortality and child mortality and given rise to vaccine development in record time. Others will tout technological innovations that have eased our lives and connected us more than ever. But progress is not universal. Women are still dying in childbirth. Gender gaps remain entrenched. The digital divide leaves more women and those in developing countries offline. More recently, COVID-19 vaccines remain unevenly distributed. And the concerns and challenges of Climate change, violence, discrimination have worsened.

Raising Awareness

The aim of the celebration is to pay great attention towards the reproductive health problems of the community people as it is the leading cause of the ill health as well as the death of pregnant women worldwide. The campaign of the World Population Day every year increases the knowledge and skills of the people worldwide towards their reproductive health and family planning.

Through this great awareness celebration, people are encouraged to take part in the event to know about population issues like importance of family planning towards the increasing population, gender equality, maternal and baby health, poverty, human rights, right to health, sexuality education, use of contraceptives and safety measures like condoms, reproductive health, adolescent pregnancy, girl child education, child marriage, sexually transmitted infections, etc.

EN EXPLAINS

Sexuality related issues are very necessary to solve among youth, especially those between 15 to 19 years of age. Access to safe, voluntary family planning is a human right. It is also central to gender equality and women's empowerment, and is a key factor in reducing poverty. Investments in making family planning available also yields economic and other gains that can propel development forward.

World Population Trends

The recent past has seen enormous changes in fertility rates and life expectancy. In the early 1970s, women had on average 4.5 children each; by 2015, total fertility for the world had fallen to below 2.5 children per woman. Meanwhile, average global lifespans have risen, from 64.6 years in the early 1990s to 72.6 years in 2019.

In addition, the world is seeing high levels of urbanization and accelerating migration. 2007 was the first year in which more people lived in urban areas than in rural areas, and by 2050 about 66 per cent of the world population will be living in cities.

These megatrends have far-reaching implications. They affect economic development, employment, income distribution, poverty and social protections. They also affect efforts to ensure universal access to health care, education, housing, sanitation, water, food and energy. To more sustainably address the needs of individuals, policymakers must understand how many people are living on the planet, where they are, how old they are, and how many people will come after them.

A path towards a more sustainable future requires demographic foresight, which involves anticipating the nature and consequences of major population shifts before and while they occur and adopting forwardlooking and proactive planning guided by such analysis. In working to achieve sustainable patterns of consumption and production and to reduce the impacts of human activity on the environment, it is important to recognize that plausible future trajectories of world population lie within a relatively narrow range, especially in the short or medium term.

Population and Development

Population and health form the crux of the development process of any nation and Family Planning acts as a very crucial determinant. The perks of family planning are not just limited to population stabilisation; rather it is one of the major contributors in ensuring good health for women, families and communities.

Sustained, rapid population growth adds to the challenge of achieving social and economic development and magnifies the scale of the investments and effort required to ensure that no one is left behind. Rapid population growth makes it more difficult for low-income and lower-middle-income countries to afford the increase in public expenditures on a per capita basis that is needed to eradicate poverty, end hunger and malnutrition, and ensure universal access to health care, education and other essential services.

To end poverty and hunger, achieve the SDGs related to health, education and access to decent work, and build the capacity to address environmental challenges, the economies of low-income and lower-middle-income countries need to grow much more rapidly than their populations, requiring greatly expanded investments in infrastructure as well as increased access to affordable energy and modern technology in all sectors.

Environmental damage often arises from economic processes that lead to higher standards of living for the population, especially when the full social and environmental costs, such as damage from pollution, are not factored into economic decisions about production and consumption. Population growth amplifies such pressures by adding to total economic demand.

Moving the global economy towards greater sustainability requires a progressive decoupling of the growth in population and in economic activity from a further intensification of resource extraction, waste generation and environmental damage. Limiting climate change and global warming, for example, requires rapid progress in decoupling economic activity from the current overreliance on fossil fuels.

India's Action Taken Report

India was one of the first countries in the world to formulate a National Family Planning Program way back in 1952 which was later expanded to cover maternal and child health as well as adolescent health and nutrition. Family planning is just the first step on a long journey towards growth, equality and development.

Addressing population growth has been a key priority for the Government of India. Birth control thus was the prime focus of the program in initial years. Over the decades the program has evolved to the current holistic and target free approach. India formulated its National Population Policy in 2000 which lays emphasis on reducing the unmet needs for family planning, improvement of health care infrastructure and attaining Population Stabilization by the year 2045. The program focuses on assuring complete knowledge and access to reproductive rights and services and enables women and men to make individual reproductive choices.

In India, Family Planning 2020 has been utilized as a platform to focus on improving access to Family Planning services through provision of fixed day static services, improving the PERKS OF PURSUING PERFORMING ...

- B.A. Performing Arts
- Diploma in theatre

Top colleges offering undergraduate/postgraduate courses in performing arts, drama, and music:

- Christ University, Bengaluru
- Krea University, Andhra Pradesh
- Jain University, Bengaluru
- Flame University, Pune
- Banaras Hindu University, Uttar Pradesh
- Amity University, Uttar Pradesh
- University of Allahabad, Uttar Pradesh
- Juilliard School, United States
- University of Music and Performing Arts, Australia
- Royal College of Music, United Kingdom

Eligibility

All candidates who have completed their class 12th with at least 50% - 60% aggregate marks fulfill eligibility criteria for pursuing a bachelor's degree in Performing Arts.

Colleges seek students who have achievements beyond their academics. A lot of liberal arts colleges in India, inspired by renowned universities in the West, are now adopting profile-based admissions. Some examples are Flame University, Ashoka University, Krea University, and Azim Premji University. The applications to such sought-after universities entail comprehensive records of the applicant's academics, extra-curricular, research endeavors, and leadership activities. Therefore, it is imperative to build a holistic profile in order to obtain admission to such institutions.

Difference Between Visual Arts & Performing Arts

Visual arts give a way to express feeling, emotion, opinion, or taste through visual means, for instance, photography, painting, sculpting, and drawing, etc. On the other hand, Performing Arts have ways to express an opinion, emotion, feeling, or taste, through means of performance, like, theatre, public speech, dance, music, etc.

Types of Performing Arts

Music: Music consists of various elements like singing, composing original music, playing musical instruments etc. Singers use their knowledge of voice production, melody, and harmony to interpret music and text. They perform in their own individual styles.

Musicians create music. They compose, conduct, sing, perform music in different styles. They are skilled artists who dedicate their life to music and its composition by playing a variety of instruments. They may work on their own, as freelancers or in collaboration with others. Competition in the field of music is high and musicians need to dedicate hours of practice to maintain and develop their skill, whatever their preferred style.

For a career in music, one must have an inborn talent to sing or play instruments along with zeal for regular practice. Training in music should ideally begin early in life, under a trained instructor.

Nowadays, almost every state has institutions for professional training in music. Many of them are recognized or are affiliated to recognized bodies such as the Prayag Sangeet Samiti in Allahabad. To encourage aspirants, the Department of Culture (under the Ministry of HRD) awards scholarships for advanced training in this field. Besides, numerous private bodies too aid through scholarships for advanced training in music. A person interested to start a career in music should have a genuine love for music, besides a sense of rhythm, versatility, creative ability and stage confidence.

Career opportunities are plenty in this field just as there is plethora of music forms like classical, folk, jazz, pop, fusion etc. Besides becoming a performer (vocal or instrumental) or a teacher, one can opt for roles ranging from a composer/song writer, music publisher, music journalist, Disc Jockeys/Video Jockeys to Music Therapist and Artist Manager/PR. Today, with the advent of digital media era along with the growing popularity of music channels and corporate sponsorship of musical events, music has become a huge industry with immense potential.

Acting & Theatre

The entertainment that we seek is practically filled by the actors - portraying various characters in movies, television, or theatre. Actors wield power to leave a remarkable impression on their audience. But the power does not come easy. The life of an actor is full of hard work and tight schedules. When most people think of actors, they see them as someone with a lot of fame and money but misses to see the abundance of hard work, dedication and determination that goes into the making of an actor.

A theatre artist is an actor who uses the stage for performance. They use songs, musicals, poems, drama, dance, speech to exhibit their art. Theatre encompasses the collaboration of many job roles, some of them working behind the scenes, to give an everlasting impression of their hard work to the audience.

How to Formally Pursue Acting?

The two most popular exams to get enrolled into acting courses in India are the Film and Television Institute of India (FTII) Entrance Exam and National School of Drama (NSD) Screening Test. The Bachelor's courses for acting and theatre are designed to explore the artistic creation of characterisation. The program prepares candidates to communicate dramatic information, ideas and feelings through the making and production of films and videos. During the programme, the candidates gain a comprehensive understanding of pragmatic production skills that focus on creative development, writing, acting, and editing.

The students are required to successfully complete the 12th standard with a minimum of 60 per cent aggregate with a recognized board from India.

Dance: Dance is the rhythmic movement of body in sync with the background sound and music. The art of creating a dance is called choreography. Individuals who opt for a career as a choreographer create and direct original dances, in addition to developing interpretations of existing dances. Students can pursue a BPA (Bachelor of Performing Arts), Master of Performing Arts, Bachelor of Dance and Music, or Master of Performing Arts in order to pursue a career as a choreographer.

Choreographers are highly in demand in the film industry and beyond. They may have a bright career in teaching dance for various cultural programmes, events or theatres. There are several choreographer roles with varying job titles and responsibilities that you may take up while progressing in the career as choreographer.

Dance Instructor: A dance instructor is responsible for training students in dance technique and dramatic skills. They often specialize in types of choreography such as ballet, jazz or tap.

Dance Teacher: Dance teachers are responsible for leading dance classes for individuals or groups of people. Their duties are closely related to teaching various types of choreography.

Artistic Director: The person with overall responsibility for the selection and interpretation of the works performed by a theatre, ballet, or opera company.

Rehearsal Director: The rehearsal director is generally responsible for coordinating and supervising the rehearsals within a company. They may be known as the choreographer's right-hand and it is usually their responsibility to ensure that the dancers know and are able to interpret the work as set by the choreographer.

Dance Critic: Dance critics are responsible for attending live dance performances and publishing or broadcasting reviews of those dance performances.

Stage Performers: In the performing arts, a performance generally comprises an event in which a performer or group of performers present one or more works of art to an audience.

Dance Therapist: Dance Therapy is the psychotherapeutic use of movement and dance to support the intellectual, emotional, and motor functions of the body.

What Students Learn from Studying Art, Drama, And Music?

- Improved learning skills
- Enhanced social skills
- Creativity
- Discipline
- Attention to detail
- Communication
- Teamwork

Studying the arts can hone one's emotional intelligence; educational theorists are increasingly emphasizing the importance of high emotional intelligence in the development of a creative mind and a nimble flexible thought process.

Furthermore, students come to appreciate constructive feedback, thereby nurturing a growth mindset. Drama, for example, equips theatrics with the ability to perceive real-life situations with a broad range of perspectives. Thus, students can use such creative techniques to excel in their coursework as well. The confidence that one gains through such experiences permeates other areas of their life as well.

Group activities foster eloquent communication and allow students to exhibit and strengthen their cultural leadership as they explore new cultures and viewpoints. Apart from sharpening their focus, memory, and critical thinking abilities, students also become more accepting and liberal citizens. Such programs encourage students to be creative and use their imagination, which in turn helps them contextualize their environment and their role in society.

Skills Required

In addition to having natural talent in your chosen discipline, it takes the right experience and qualifications to be successful as a performing artist. Some of the skills and traits that candidates should possess to pursue the course are:

- Time management skills
- Organisation skills
- Self-presentation
- Commitment to the entertainment industry

- Innovation
- Passion
- Observing power
- Ability to express
- Visualisation skills
- Creativity

Your skills will also be valuable in a range of other careers, especially if you're able to effectively combine creative talent with the practical aspects of self-promotion and arts management.

Scope

The performance arts industry is a huge and diverse field, offering many different opportunities for individuals looking to make a living through their creativity. After completing an undergraduate course in performing arts, candidates will have a number of choices to pursue a career in the field of performing arts. One can be placed in theatre groups, entertainment companies, television, as well as the film industry or work independently as freelancers.

Some of the job options with a performing arts degree include the following:

- Arts administrator
- Broadcast presenter
- Film Director
- Actor
- Musician
- Singer
- Dancer
- Director
- Producer
- Screenwriter
- Choreographer
- Set designer
- Sound designer
- Lighting designer
- Teaching
- Therapist: Dance- music- or drama- therapist

Performing arts are an integral part of society. Whether you're a big fan of musical theatre, opera, ballet, or jazz, the arts form part of our culture and add an enormous value to it.

These performing arts jobs allow you to use your love of the dance, music or drama to help individuals of all ages overcome personal difficulties. Drama-therapists use activities such as group work or roleplay to encourage people to come to terms with their emotions and express themselves, helping them to overcome or progress on their social or personal difficulties.

Similarly, music therapists use music to help people deal with feelings they can't put into words. You'll use music creatively to establish a shared musical experience and aim for therapeutic goals. Dance therapists use movement and dance within a therapeutic atmosphere to help people who are facing physical, psychological, emotional or mental problems.

WORLD POPULATION DAY ...

overall quality of services, influencing the demand for contraceptives and expanding the basket of choices. The National Family Planning Program compliments India's commitment at International Forums (viz. International Conference on Population and Development-ICPD, Sustainable Development Goals-SDG, FP2020/FP2030 and others).

India has been in the forefront of expanding post-partum Intrauterine Contraceptive Device (IUCD) services. At village level ASHAs have been delivering contraceptives (Condoms, Oral Contraceptive Pills & Emergency Contraceptive Pills) at the doorstep of clients. ASHA has been instrumental in counseling the couples for delaying the birth of first child by at least two years and maintain a healthy spacing of at least three years between the first and second child.

Currently, the Family Planning methods in India can be broadly classified in two categories - Spacing Methods and Limiting/Permanent Methods:

A) Spacing Methods: These are reversible methods which can be adopted and discontinued as per an individual's choice like Oral contraceptive pills (Combined oral contraceptive pill (Mala N), Centchroman (Chhaya), Condoms (Nirodh), Intrauterine Contraceptive Devices (IUCD 380A - effective for 10 years, IUCD 375- effective for 5 years) and Contraceptive Injectable MPA (Antara Program)

B) Permanent Methods: These methods are irreversible in nature like male and female sterilization. For females, options like Minilaparotomy and Laparoscopy and for males conventional and non-scalpel vasectomy (no incision no stitches) are available. Permanent methods are generally available at primary health centre level or above. They are provided by MBBS doctors who have been trained to provide these services.

C) Emergency Contraceptive Pills: These are to be consumed in cases of emergency arising out of unplanned/unprotected intercourse and should never be considered a replacement for a regular contraceptive.

The Government of India has invested substantial domestic funding to achieve the ambitious FP2020 goals. The major initiatives under Family Planning include Mission Parivar Vikas, Injectable Question: India has made a century in the start-up ecosystem, with 100 unicorns. Do you think that any of these start-ups' services have brought a positive change in your lifestyle? If yes, how?

ATUL NAMDEORAO GADHE

Startup ecosystem with 100 unicorns has changed the Indian business market. Students and youth are not just solving the problem but are also creating employment which is a good sign for the future. Brands like Zomato, Flipkart, Paytm, Ola, Byjus etc are the reason for revolution in the Indian market. I think startup unicorns have given a direction and push to the future generations. Youth till now, were living with problems but these startups gave them problem solving capacity and innovative mindset.

Nowadays students have developed thinking skills. Startup unicorns have given a new hope to the youth; it is like an ignition for the young minds. Now every student dreams of becoming an entrepreneur and have the spark to conquer their dreams. Major change brought by startup unicorns is that problem is now taken as a challenge. Young entrepreneurs like Prafull Billore, MBA Chaiwala have made a huge impact on the youth. Social media has become a source of awareness for the young generation. My experience is that my child is aware about unicorns like Zomato, Flipkart and many more because of social media. I am proud that the youth of my country are on the right path.

Contraceptive MPA, Family Planning - Logistics Management Information System (LMIS), Family Planning Communications Campaign. The National Family Planning Program has introduced the Injectable Contraceptive in the public health system under the "Antara" program. This contraceptive is highly effective and will meet the changing needs of couples and help women space their pregnancies.

India has been an important and active member of Family Planning 2020 partnership, advancing collaborative efforts to address the policy, financing, delivery and socio-cultural barriers to women accessing contraceptive information, services and supplies. The alliance provided an impetus to our national agenda of protecting mothers and children through improving access to family planning choices. From the time of the partnership's initiation in 2012, India added more than 1.5 crore additional users for modern contraceptives thereby increasing the modern contraceptive use to 55%.

UNLOCKING INDIA'S INNOVATION ...

Initiatives by Department of Science & Technology

Several government schemes are instilling confidence among children to think innovatively, look at out of the box S&T solutions for numerous problems and also to break barriers and initiate their adventures in science.

Innovation is the key to realizing the dream of new India. School children from remote areas are taking advantage of numerous schemes of the government to bring about innovative solutions to day to day problems. Navshri Thakur, a student from Hoshangabad, Madhya Pradesh developed a multi-useful kitchen machine which she submitted at the INSPIRE MANAK AWARDS, a programme of the Department of Science and Technology (DST) and bagged the first prize for it. In the same competition, a stretcher embedded with shock absorbers by Owais Ahmed from Karnataka bagged the second prize.

The MANAK (Million Minds Augmenting National Aspirations and Knowledge) awards programme under the Innovation in Science Pursuit for Inspired Research' (INSPIRE) scheme, a flagship programme of DST targets to generate one million original ideas/innovations rooted in science and societal applications to foster a culture of creativity and innovative thinking among school children specially between Class 6 to 10. It calls on schools to participate in it every year.

The awards are being executed by DST with National Innovation Foundation - India (NIF), an autonomous body of DST. In the year 2020-2021 it brought 6.53 lakh ideas from more than 2 lakh middle and high schools across the country. The best of them are shortlisted for showcasing at district, state and then at the National Level Exhibition & Project Competition.

Rashmi Kumari hailing from a rural background from Uttar Pradesh who earlier lacked the confidence and decision about her future, is keen to pursue a career in STEM thanks to Vigyan Jyoti programme of DST. The programme is encouraging around 10,000 young girls of Class IX-XII in 100 districts of the country to pursue higher education in underrepresented areas of STEM, in higher educational institutions of excellence. It provides a scholarship, visit to nearby scientific institutions, science camps, lecturers from eminent women scientists, and career counseling.

Other programmes to inspire science learning in children are Kishore Vaigyanik Protsahan Yojana (KVPY), Science Olympiad Programme, and the India Innovation Growth Programme (IIGP).

The Kishore Vaigyanik Protsahan Yojana (KVPY), mentorship and scholarship support is provided to pursue study in Basic Sciences. This programme administered and implemented by the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) Bangalore, identifies students with talent and aptitude for research, helps them realize their potential to attract exceptionally motivated students to study science and pursue careers in research.

National Science Olympiad Programme aims at promoting excellence in Science and Mathematics among pre-university students. Homi Bhabha Centre for Science Education (HBCSE), Mumbai is the nodal organization for selection and training of students is done through Indian Association of Physics Teachers (IAPT) for participation of students at various International Olympiads meet.

The India Innovation Growth Programme (IIGP) is a tripartite initiative of DST, Lockheed Martin and Tata Trusts and aims at selecting innovations to create large scale social impact and bring industrial transformation in India. It aims to support Government of India's 'Start-up India' and 'Make in India' initiatives. Grants to winners seek to enable their prototyping the proposed technology solutions and begin the process of evaluating and applying these technologies and solutions for social, commercial and industrial benefit. All of these have played a critical role in inspiring young minds in finding creative solutions through S&T and fructifying the dream for New India.

India's strides in innovation are also advancing climate action and net-zero transition. India has been leading the International Solar Alliance - a group of 106 countries working to scale efficiencies of solar technologies - and the government recently launched the National Hydrogen Mission to leverage the potential of green hydrogen technology. It is also working closely with the private sector to put in place policies that support sustainable mobility, such as electric vehicles.

The direction of reforms launched by the Indian government to harness the gains from its technological and entrepreneurial capabilities highlights its strong focus on promoting balanced, inclusive and sustainable development.

To conclude, inventions take place when people think differently from the rest of others. To be an effective innovation, it needs to be simple and uncomplicated as well as focused on a particular operation. Any technology or invention must be simple enough to make the people understand about its functioning. All such innovative ideas and urge to turn them to reality leads an outstanding mind to success. Government of India is prioritizing to extend its support for all such innovators and enterprises to come forward and start believing in their big dreams of inventing something new and useful.

■ FCRA Amended to Allow Transfer of Upto Rs 10 Lakh Without Intimation to Authorities

Union Home Ministry has amended the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act (FCRA) giving certain relaxations such as allowing relatives to send more money to India freely. The amended rule now allows relatives to send Upto Rs 10 lakh without informing the government. If the amount exceeds, the individuals will now have three months to inform the government against 30-days earlier. The amended rule also gives more time to the organisations to inform the government about opening of bank accounts for utilization of funds received under 'registration' or 'prior permission' category.
